

Unforgiven (Acoustic Version)

Blood On The Dance Floor

You got your secrets locked inside so well
I'm gonna break down your walls
And find out what you won't tell

You think you've coined the slogan, the master of disguise
Let's cut right through the bullshit
I see all of your lies

You took your love and wasted all of it
On someone who could care less for you
I kept my word, everything I said
Came directly from my heart, it's true

Don't think I won't forget the things you've done
Don't think you won't regret forbidding fun
I've drawn my line with you in the sand
Right now you are the one who is unforgiven

Unforgiven!
Unforgiven!

You walked me to the gates of heaven
Now I'm burning in hell
Took something pure and true
And turned it into something to sell

How can you live with yourself
Each time you think about what you have done?

You took your love and wasted all of it
On someone who could care less for you
I kept my word, everything I said
Came directly from my heart, it's true

Don't think I won't forget the things you've done
Don't think you won't regret forbidding fun
I've drawn my line with you in the sand
Right now you are the one who is unforgiven

You had you fun with all that was forbidden
You are the one who is unforgiven

You took your love and wasted all of it
On someone who could care less for you
I kept my word, everything I said
Came directly from my heart, it's true

Let it go, just let go
You'll be fine on your own
Let it go, just let go
You'll be fine on your own
