You take all you have and you leave it behind In the hope there's more to find In blind ambition yeh in blind faith You wait for things to change Hungry for something that I can't say And the colours fade to grey Too close for comfort but too far to feel Yeh it spins the wheel

Walking forwards with no sight 'Coz the rhythm leaves you blind Walking forwards with no sight Yeh it's dark as night

Falling through Falling through

Call out the fracture between two lives
There's one to leave behind
The dream isn't woken
So let it forget
The song is different
Hungry for something that I can't say
And the colours fade to grey
Bruises and blisters
They follow the ride
Never turn desire

Falling through Falling through Falling through

Falling through
Falling through
Falling through
Colours all fade to grey
Falling through
