Why Don't You Come To Where I Am

Blow

Why don't you come over here into my world I've got a place for you You can see that I've moved my bed across the room I would open my sheets And open my arms I would make you a food or two I would run right into you Oh the ocean is wide The ocean is wide