

The Real Me

Blue Café

You'll never know the real me even when you trying hard you'll never gonna feel the beating of my heart who would have ever believed that love can bring me on my knees
it's heavy on my heart

You'll never gonna see me crying in the night and even going underneath the same blue sky
who would have ever believed that love can bring
me on my knees
it's heavy on my heart

And the grace of the world
I'm afraid to get lost
on the way

Who would have ever believed that love can bring
me on my knees
it's heavy on my heart.

And the grace of the world
I'm afraid to get lost
on the way

I close my eyes
I close my eyes