

Sunrise

Blutengel

There were cruel things,
fears I can't stand.
Burning bridges, memories without demand,
like castles in the sky,
the years are washing over me.
There was nothing to lose,
nothing to hold
and nothing to believe.

I set my fantasies on fire,
there is magic in my veins.
I'm gonna be like this forever,
toll a bell and spread my wings.

Sun is rising in my nights,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
This time, it's right I got away,
go on and turn the page.
Sun is rising in my soul,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
Can't lock me in another cage.
I burn a torch for your sins.

All the devils start to fall,
in the brightness of my light.
Some days I felt so numb,
like a desperate child.
All the colorless flowers,
all the doubts I left behind.
Dancing on my own melodies,
like a bird in the sky.

Sun is rising in my nights,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
This time, it's right I got away,
go on and turn the page.
Sun is rising in my soul,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
Can't lock me in another cage.
I burn a torch for your sins.

I say a prayer for the broken-hearted.
I ring a bell to get them through the lonely nights.
I say a prayer in this night.

Sun is rising in my nights,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
This time, it's right I got away,
go on and turn the page.
Sun is rising in my soul,
nothing keeps the morning light from shining.
Can't lock me in another cage.
I burn a torch for your sins.