You're running through the darkness
We don't need no light
You're looking for a place to hide
We protect you from the cold
Your life seems so meaningless
We satisfy Your dreams
You search for a gate to a better life
You just need to take my hand

We try to catch you in the dark With a certain kind of kiss We invite you to the darker side A kingdom without light

We try to catch you in the night The moon shines in a different light We see into your fragile eyes No more time to cry

We try to catch you in the dark With a certain kind of kiss We invite you to the darker side A kingdom without light

Can't you see our burning souls We hide a secret deep inside We show you pleasures without pain Take our gift this night

There's so much beauty in our world
Beauty of the night
There's so much pleasure in our world
Pleasure of the night
We're drowning in a see of blood
Sacrifice your life
We have the gift of eternal existence
Sacrifice your soul