

Changing For The Better

Bo Bice

Feel the wind out on the street,
Blows my hair and moves my feet
Takes me to a different place in time
People laughing everywhere
Wander 'round without a care
Happiness, it makes the heart go blind
I see saints
I see sinners
There's losers and there's winners
I ain't no beginner to the pain
'Cause I've done right and I've done wrong
And it's hard to carry on
But it's easier just knowing who's to blame

Chorus

So, I'm changing for the better this time
I guess I'm gonna need to cross the line
Things I had to leave, I left behind
'Cause I've been changing for the better, changing for the better
Changing for the better this time

Start to see the second sight
Move from darkness into light
Just forget these things I thought I'd known
Many things I can't believe
Second chances, third degrees
Tried my best to find my own way home
I've had good times and bad times
Ate my words, drank my wine
Many friends I've had to leave behind
It gets worse, it gets better
Yea, I read it in that letter
She'd sit beside to see that things were fine

I've been changing for the better this time,
I guess I'm gonna need to cross the line
Things I had to leave, I left behind
'Cause I've been changing for the better, changing for the better
Changing for the better this time

Repeat chorus
