

Disturbance English

Boa

I don't remember the look you used to give me
Or your warm and cozy embrace
From some point, we didn't
Try to get to know each other
Or even want to get to know each other
Our changing images
Were so cold that it couldn't even be touched
Inside the tiring indifference
I couldn't do anything and
I hated myself more for that

You didn't look at my eyes
You didn't read my heart
You turned away from my sadness
I love you - were these words not enough?

I didn't know at first,
I thought you were just busy
Your calls and dates
With you grew less
You'll come if I wait,
I should understand
But the more I did so,
The further you got

I am standing here in the same place
But you grow faint and I can't see you
I don't even know my way back
So come here, hurry and save me

You didn't look at my eyes
You didn't read my heart
You turned away from my sadness
I love you - were these words not enough?

On the day where everything ended in a quick moment
After snapping out of it, I realized I was really alone
Are you really crying like a fool? Do you think it's over?
I really can't think of anything right now

You didn't look at my eyes
You didn't read my heart
You turned away from my sadness
I love you - maybe I just wanted to hear those words

That was you