

The Tower

Bob Catley

Cross the sky as we let our flight design, heaven
Born to rise, to forever follow our hearts
You and I stand together, binding ties, severed
Learn to fly or you'll never reach for the stars

As true believers, our love is rare
So many seekers, so much despair

There in you, I can see a dawn, a new era
Breaking through, shouting from the dark to be heard
Pure belief, we were always meant to be, you're my Fantasy, you are something out of this world

We'll find a place for the love we share
So take my hand, I will take you there

On through the night, shine like the stars
No trick of the light fades this nebula
Nothing to lose, strong and true
As always I remember, we prove our love

This tower is to defend our love
This mountainside is mirrored on emotion
No power could ever bend our love
It's alive in our hearts tonight

Life is life, never let it pass you by, never Justify, anything your heart can control
In our time, we create our piece of mind, for how High you climb, doesn't mean the harder you fall

You can't be blind, only fools rush in
You must abide by the rules to win

On through the night, shine like the stars
No trick of the light fades this nebula
Nothing to lose, strong and true
As always I remember, we prove our love

This tower is to defend our love
This mountainside is mirrored on emotion
No power could ever bend our love
It's alive in our hearts tonight

This flower will not decay my love
This fountain is a trickle in the ocean
It's ours and time again, my love
It's alive in our hearts tonight
It's a fire from the spark tonight
