Mind in Pocket

Bob Geldof

Say what you want

Stuffed air, muggy, thunderous July Snatches of human drum `n` bass rolling by Noise intrudes into my interesting mood Over half-read books And half-eaten food Upstairs they`re staging the usual riot But I`d prefer it to the silence I`m more afraid of quiet I need the cities shrieks This night of urban charms There`s people on the street Dancing to their car alarms

Put your mind in your pocket Put your pocket Where your mouth should be

Talk to totally nude girl for a dollar I`m in a topless mood But my dick can`t be bothered I want to speak to a fully clothed person For free I think But I`m not really certain
