

Hear Me Calling

Bob Mould

I recall what it felt like years ago
And it's all I wanna know
And if I don't seem to deal too well
With being left alone
It's only 'cause I want you for my own

Can't you hear me calling you out?
Can't you see me falling to the ground?
To the ground

Well I hope that you'll be happy
If it's happiness you find
But I can't seem to get you off my mind
I wonder where you're going to
And I wonder where you've been
I wonder if we'll ever meet again

Can't you hear me calling you out?
Can't you see me falling to the ground?

Oh, you'll never know how much I adored you
Every time I look around and see how much I ignored you
But I don't mind
You keep taking up all my time
Does it matter to you?
Does it matter to me?
Does it matter anymore?
You win again
You win again
You win again

The more you try to move away
The tighter I hold on
(listen, can't you hear me calling?)
But what will you hold onto when I'm gone?
(Jesus, can't you see me falling?)
But you've made other plans
And I guess I understand
(listen, can't you hear me calling?)
I ain't got much choice but to understand
(Jesus, can't you see me falling?)

Can't you hear me calling you out?
Can't you see me falling to the ground?
Can't you hear me calling you out?
Can't you see me falling to the ground?
You win again
