

The World Exploded Into Love

Bob Schneider

There is a universe that can't be seen
It's just a feeling, if you know what I mean
Delectable, dimension, undetectable by sight
It'll fill up your heart in the dead of the night
Some say that it's an astral plane
It can't be described, can't be explained

The world exploded into love all around me
The world exploded into love all around me
And everytime I take a look around me
I have to smile

Oh! Is our life just an illusion?
There is no need to figure it out
Separation exists not in love filled heart
But only in your mind, the real story's all around you
Even now it surrounds you
Even now I feel the power

The world exploded into love all around me
The world exploded into love all around me
Everytime I take a look around me
I have to smile

The world exploded into love all around me
The world exploded into love all around me
And everytime I take a look around me
I have to smile
I have to smile
I have to smile