

Hey, I've thrown it all away
I've pushed it down
And I know it won't come back
Cos I broke the life I had
Now, I've thought it through for now
And I don't think that'll change it all today
Makes sense in any way

Thinking over what you said
It's over, and it's over
Now I know this time
That I've crossed the line

Hey, I guess I can't complain for what I've done
Cos you've served me up 'til now
And it'll all work out somehow
Now, I know I've made mistakes
I've sat around
And I wish that everyday
Was the last day

Thinking over what you said
It's over, and it's over
Now I know this time
That I've crossed the line
The line

I never thought I'd see reality could bring me down
I must be living in the past
I never thought I'd see reality could bring me down
I must be living in the past
I never thought I'd see reality could bring me down
I must be living in the past
In the past
