Eternal War

Bolt Thrower

Through man's existance, from the start of time The fight for survival is our only crime Those in power, rotten to the core The ongoing battle of the eternal war

What are you fighting for? Is it worth dying for? You're held down by your chains, there's no-one but you to blame

Fighting, destroying, following blind Crushing, corrupting, enslaving mankind

What's now left - you can't believe Oppression those in power, send to deceive Slave to hatred, peace they deplore Driven by despair, eternal war

Rebuild humanity to create a new society For there's strength in unity which lies with you Can't you see