For 30 odd years I was a newspaper man I made my living with a pen and a pad God I miss the smell of paper and ink on my hands

Back from the desert for a year or so I left more in the sand than youll ever know Another war was waitind for me when I got back home In the name of flags and evil lies IDm still living, yeah sent there to fight Well that Ds my story what else can I say

Hey hey I got a lot to give so can tyou see I m still breathing and my heart still beats They took the car but they left the lease Does anybody want what selft of me Boarding up the house they left the keys (?) Rolling on in the city with empty streets (?) I ain thecking out I still got my dream Does anybody want what selft of me hey hey

You cut your hair and went with a punk rock band (?) When it \square s all about CVs DVs I don \square t understand All that \square s left on all the t-shirts (?) broke your plan I sold my drums to make ends meet They woke up we had to eat It \square s he same old shits that happens for these days

Hey hey I got a lot to give so can tyou see I m still breathing and my heart still beats They took the car but they left the lease Does anybody want what sleft of me Boarding up the house they left the keys (?) Rolling on in the city with empty streets (?) I ain thecking out I still got my dream Does anybody want what sleft of me hey hey

Well $I\square m$ a teacher $I\square m$ a farmer $I\square m$ a union man $It\square s$ getting hard to make a living in this hard land We working in our factories all these jobs went overseas

Does anybody want does anybody want
Does anybody want what \square s left of me
I got a lot to give so can \square t you see
I \square m still breathing and my heart still beats
They took the car but they left the lease
Does anybody want what \square s left of me
Does anybody want my old rent (?)
Take the chance (?)
I ain \square t checkin \square out I still got my dreams
Does anybody want what \square s left of me hey hey

Does anybody want Does anybody want Does anybody want what□s left of me hey hey Does anybody want does anybody want Does anybody want what□s left of me
