Once I felt - so strong about us that we would never go apart I always thought - that truth is living in our minds - and deep in our hearts You slammed the door - and you left me crying but that don't matter anymore And deep within - I feel like dying 'cause I know that you won't come back no more It's too late - to say I'm sorry much too late - when all the damage is done CHORUS Will there be life after love another morning Or will my heart break apart without you - in a life after love There was a time - when I didnít listen to what your heart was tryin' to say Separate ways - can be so lonely but I sure did never want it that way It's too late - to talk it over much too late - 'cause this ain't home anymore CHORUS Love is like a road - forever winding and where it leads you - you don't know It can lead you - to a place like heaven through all kinds of hell - you never can tell CHORUS
