

Unbind me from this cage I'm living in
From which I can't escape, I need to get away
Unbind me from this prison, controlling, so demanding
All colorless and grey
I can't take this, expectations are getting in the way
Living in silence - sheltered and afraid
If this is all that life is, then get me the fuck away

It's the timing, reveal yourself
Now unbind me
A cry for help
Open your eyes and make your story worth while Reveal yourself

We've already come this far
Now it's much too late to give in
Into security, it's frightening how numb it feels Deny, don't descend into the grey

Running from your issues is not a strategy
Restart - invent a new reality
A cry for help

Unbind me from his cage I'm living in
From which I can't escape, I need to get away
Unbind me from these shadows - expanding, suffocating
So dark and full of hate
As I'm leaving, opposition is holding me in place