

Vietnam

Botch

Our boys need something to rape, I want to taste you today, like kids kissing

I've lost all sympathy, only living for me, preservation

We need something to break, I want something to break

Those words weren't meant to escape, but they do anyway, I hate the others

So show me your strength

Explaining changes nothing

"Chocolates only so much shit, floating out of the snake, to the see..."

And I'll take their fate, and I bet no one will care

So sink in your tusks, mighty walrus

Take what's yours, Walrus's of the night, take your prey, with tusks bared in the burning light,

Take their life and rob me.

"Ever think the world is just one big blubbery walrus ready to sink its ivory tusks into you? Me too."
