

Chimes

Bowerbirds

Oh the chimes are sounding
And they echo wildly off the canyon walls
Well this is wild land, hold me
These are ancient songs that fill my body

Oh the light is astounding
It's golden lashes sweetly overgrown
Well this is my joy smiling
These are my spoils for simply breathing