Out the Window

Bowling For Soup

You said to never ever come back I wasn't sure exactly what you meant by that I know that we have had some problems But I've got solutions in my head

So I jumped out the window And down the fire escape Broke the window, who needs car keys anyway? Climbed through the window, I thought led to your heart Thrown out the window, there was nothing there to break my fall .

Sorry I sent you all the flowers I heard your boyfriend wants to shove them up my ass I never meant to cause you problems But I've got solutions in my head.

So I jumped out the window And down the fire escape Broke the window, who needs car keys anyway? Climbed through the window, I thought led to your heart Thrown out the window, there was nothing there to break my fall

You said it's over You said never again Why does this happen all the time? You don't even want to be friends It makes you happy when I cry Now all I've got left is my sanity Now all I've got left is my sanity And I'm not sure how far it goes.