

Another Day (Another Letter)

Boz Scaggs

Another day another letter
Would bring me closer to your side
Another walk along the river
Another need be satisfied

Unto another you bring this trust
And with each footstep a doubt you remove
And it will follow as follow it must
No love is pretended no love need you prove

And once again you will try to replace
All the love we have lost
None of the worries we'll live for the call
Of our hearts made of iron or of stone

Into another's arms you trust
And with each footstep a doubt you remove
And it will follow as follow it must
No love is pretended no love need you prove

Another day another letter
Would bring me closer to your side
