If there's anything I could say, if there's anyway I could prov

That I would never try to do those bad things to you To make you feel like you do

All we were saying was let's be friends and never let each othe r down

All we were saying was let's pretend that we never let each oth er down

Words can be weapons, my friend You never know until the end Why did I say a word? Why did I have to lie?

All we were saying was let's be friends and never let each othe r down

All we were saying was let's pretend that we never let each oth er down

We never let each other down

No one ever knows in the blink of an eye when the leaves tell a lie to the fall

Each has its own way of looking at love in the stars you will f ind after all

All we were saying was let's be friends and never let each othe r down

All we were saying was let's pretend that we never let each oth er down

We never let each other down

Promise me
