Nemesis Of Neglect

pandemonium screams are heard throughout the night constant pestilence, no place to hide overwhelming calamity shifting into havoc ruins will be all that remains the plaque of death returns from the grave humanities reached its end at the brink of extinction we have no time left nemesis of neglect ruins will be all that remains the plaque of death returns from the grave humanities reached its end at the brink of extinction we have no time left nemesis of neglect awakening the dead unleashing turmoil through the hills and across the plains ravaging through the burned remains they will not spare your blood killing off every last man's son they will not spare your blood killing off every last man's son devouring all thats left, nemesis of neglect (2x)

Brain Drill