Brandi Carlile

Monday you just had to spend the day with me
And hop a bus down to the big city
Tuesday it looked like rain
And i was laughing all insane
And running through it anyway
Hot cup of coffee in my fingers
As the weekend they disappear
Bye bye

Wednesday's paper is all about the president
We've all seen better ways of our time spent
Thursday it was nothing but a compromise
Changing with the tide is just my way of being wise
Naive notions that were childish
And my thoughts of a busy day
Maybe

You know i worked all day then the sun went down at five
I'll pass the hours away just to keep myself alive
Yeah i didn't miss you a bit but i just might want you tonight
I'll wake up Saturday morning and finally i'll be all right

Friday comes my song is on the radio
A long drive home and i'm listening to my indigo
Solitary sense it finally comes over me
I made it through another week
I know just where i want to be
Raindrops on the window wash away my Friday blues

You know i worked all day then the sun went down at five
I passed the hours away just to keep myself alive
Yeah i didn't miss yo a bit but i just might want you tonight
I'll wake up Saturday morning and finally i'll be all right
We're all right now

Yeah i didnt miss you a bit but i just might want you tonight
I'll wake up Saturday morning and finally i'll be there

Monday you just had to spend the day with me
Tuesday it's raining in the big city
Wednesday's the president Thursday i pay the rent
Friday comes my song is on the radio

Yeah i worked all day then the sun went down at five
I'll pass the hours away just to keep myself alive
Yeah i didn't miss you a bit but i just might want you tonight yeah
I'll wake up Saturday morning and finally i'll be all right
We're all right
I'll wake up Saturday morning and finally i'll be all right
