

21st Century Girl

Brazzaville

Monday morning and it's raining
All over town
I feel the rumble of the trains
Deep underground
I check my inbox but there's nothin' there
I guess she's just gone away
And she took my profile off her myspace yesterday

'Cause she's a 21st century girl
And she's searchin' all around the world
It's hard to settle for a guy
When there's 30 million more to try

She posts the photographs that make her look
Real thin
She lists her movies and her favorite bands
Sends messages to all her friends

She says she's single and she don't want kids
I told her that that's OK
But she took my profile off her myspace yesterday

'Cause she's a 21st century girl...

We met for coffee at the Pickmeup Caf 
We both were nervous and a little shy
But we hung out for most of the day
She kissed my eyelids and she held my hand
But her eyes they seemed far away
And she took my profile off her myspace yesterday

'Cause she's a 21st century girl...