

I Say Again

Bread

I say again
You didn't hear me once again
So I'll have to say again

I knew you when
You didn't crawl behind your wall
Can you hear my voice at all
Must I have to say it again

I'm filling up the room with all the words I've said
Hoping that one or two will make it through
And get inside your head

I say again
You didn't hear me once again
So I'll have to say again