

Lights Out

Breakdown of Sanity

I take your breath away can you feel remorse

retrace all the steps, all the things you've done to me this is the moment where I can't control myself you stamped your heel on my neck you forced me to taste the poison

I gonna' take your breath away
I gonna' take your breath away can you feel me now this nauseating sickness creeping through I think this can only be stopped by blood can you feel remorse

can you see my blood

it's too late to apologize for all the things you've done to me you couldn't catch the sickness, cure the sickness that I bleed and now I needed you to feel the pain of my disease this is the last impression that I'm leaving you to see I know you needed just a reason, but the reason died but the fuckin' reason died with me everyday I ask myself, how long is this to continue I just follow the voice in my head, the time is now to turn the lights out

can you see my scars, you can't heal anymore I'm able to divine your thoughts now

I won't break again