

The Chosen Ones

Breakdown of Sanity

One life, one chance, it's up to you to feel alive the time is too short to wait for salvation arise
the time is now to rise follow the clouds in the sky from beneath it devours, struggle through this freezing ocean we will cross the cold ocean you will see everyday we try to surpass ourselves

you all will fall apart if you can't decide to stand up real soon now all your dreams will fade away we're dealing with a callous world and so you need the chosen ones to open the way for you we are the chosen ones who show you how to look beyond who uncloset your eyes and make them see

we're dealing with a callous world
and so you need the chosen ones to open the way for you - we won't stray from our path we are the light over the sea

you all will fall apart if you can't decide to stand up
everyday we try to surpass ourselves

the time is now to rise
the time is now to resist
the time is now to rise
don't waste your fuckin' time the choice is yours