Reality Show

Breaking Point

We shape our lives by what we see on the t.v.

And now we're lost not knowing who or what to be

And all our lives, we run and hide

Never knowing what's the truth behind the lies

The big disguise they've led us to believe

We're all living a reality show And everyone is always acting their role And all our lives in stereo Cause we're all living a reality show

I see the picture as it's painted on the screen And i don't even know what's real or fantasy But i realize all the lies
Can not change the way i choose to live my life Televised for everyone to see

We're all living a reality show And everyone is always acting their role And all our lives in stereo Cause we're all living a reality show

And i'm trying not to notice
But i'm losing all my focus in my life
In my life

We're all living a reality show And everyone is always acting their role And all our lives in stereo Cause we're all living a reality show
