

None Of Them Are You

Brendan James

Black blue yellow what red stripes gonna bruise
All the young weak strong all the confident confuse
He can run, she can jump, they can sing higher than you
Make it hurt, make it cry, make it forget the truth
Never gonna get it for yourself
If you keep your eyes on someone else

Nobody started from the place that you started from
Nobody holds to go
When you're hoping to go
And nobody out there wants to love you do
'Cause none of them are you
None of them are you

Look around in the crowd wish you could have some fun
Look it down how they win how they beat everyone
Blue skies in your eyes under the brighter sun
Still you hurt, still you cry, still you the lonely one

Nobody started from the place that you started from
Nobody holds to go
When you're hoping to go
And nobody out there wants to love you do
'Cause none of them are you
None of them are you

The day will come, the will pass
The way you feel it never last
You trade in water now and everybody else to swimming past
You walk alone, alone to no one else could ever find
A billion lines across the narrow time
Ohhh

Nobody started from the place that you started from
Nobody holds to go
When you're hoping to go
And nobody out there wants to love you do
'Cause none of them are you
None of them are you
