

Run Away

Brendan James

Can you feel the room spinning
Can you feel what's happening
Walls are caving, colors change
The red you're wearing turns to grey

Oceans rise and oceans subside
Seasons give up and so have I
Holding you is holding you back
From what you could be, what you could have

Run away, run away before it's too late
Run away before it's too late
Run away, run away before it's too late
Run away before it's too late
You never know what you gonna find out there
No, you'll never know till you look

Memories as sweet as these
You cannot take them, they belong to me
Don't you worry, worry about me
Don't make this harder than it has to be

Run away, run away before it's too late
Run away before it's too late
Run away, run away before it's too late
Run away before it's too late
You never know what you gonna find out there
No, you'll never know till you look

Mm...

Run away before it's too late, run away
Run away before it's too late to run away
Before it's too late

Ah...

Run away, run away before it's too late to Run away, I want you to stay, ah...
You never know what you gonna find out there
No, you'll never know till you look
