Room With A View

Brian Wilson

Just now I was thinkin' 'bout another perfect day Wishin' it would come again your way Down below a sparkled city scatters by the bay Tells you your suspicions are at play

One by one a carpet of star-spangled cities sleep Like so many dancin' diamonds with a beat Each of them are home with walls of stories they could tell Meet the crack of dawn, a freeway starts to roll

An owl hoots it's last goodbye to a coyote on patrol Each day keeps me guessin'
Will you take what I'm confessin'?
Will you find the heartbeat in LA?
