Brighten

Don't trust anyone anymore.
Don't trust anyone anymore.
And don't trust anyone anymore.
Don't trust anyone anymore.

The doctors say we're wasting time.
With hospitals from left and right
And I think we have another thing coming, wouldn't you say?

Don't trust anyone anymore.
Did you find yourself alone?
Did you lose it on your own?
And don't trust anyone anymore.
Did you recognize your thought?
Are you something that you're not?

Awake in the morning when the phone rings
With death still calling, I wonder how he felt
We're taking pictures so we don't forget names and faces and me dications
And liars turned to lovers but turned back to hatred for more v acations

And don't trust anyone anymore.
Did you find yourself alone?
Did you lose it on your own?
And don't trust anyone anymore.
Did you recognize a thought?
Are you something that you're not?
Don't trust anyone anymore.
You're so cared of living this way
And don't trust anyone anymore
