

The Rpg

Broadway Calls

Rain falls down,
Washes out our eyes,
I've been told too many times this will be nothing,
With your secret life out for the world to see.

Why?

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much at stake,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live with you.

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much to say,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live...

And I feel much better now,
When the thought of you rushes out of my head,
I've been told too many times this will be nothing,
With my secret life out for the world to see.

Why?

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much at stake,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live with you.

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much to say,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live...

And I feel much better,
When the morning's over.
Well thank God I only live through this one time a day.

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much at stake,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live with you.

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much to say,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live...

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much at stake,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live with you.

If I was the only one,
If I didn't have this much to say,
If I was the only one,
To keep this secret life I live...