

Same Thing We Do Everyday Pinky

Broadway

Goodbye
We're facing the same day
over and over You're repeating yourself and it's boring me to tears I would just like to ask are you owned by your fears?
What happened to the world that moved so fast?
The people in it had to abandon their pasts just to keep up with the progress You're hopeless, you lost this I'm just being honest
All of you deserve this shallow judgment

There's nowhere to go
but up from here

Take your time
Don't bother me with shallow alibis
It's you life and your decision to do nothing with it so admit it now

There's nowhere to go
but up from here

[Craig Owens:]
Don't bother me with shallow alibis
And filthy lies
Looking at you I can see right through your eyes (there's no, there's no, there's no where left to go)

Goodbye
We're facing the same day
over and over

I've escaped this feeling, it's back and I know that it's not right I know that it's not right

There's nowhere to go
but up from here
