Trap Doors

Broken Bells

Walk out before you make it worse on yourself Now's not the time for that elegant laugh Digress from the people Once by your side Once by your side But now that it's over You have to pick up And start again, start again

Falling to earth And you're calling it out You're burning yourself and your challenge to winter Gotta clip the lines and move for yourself Just move for yourself, love Now that it's over You have to pick up And just watch your back, watch your back

And close your eyes to us Fight fire Trap doors to endless wisdom Young lad, have we grown too tired Longing to find

Learned that in time You want it to end Your life at this temperature Life under water You gotta let these fools all trample themselves They trample themselves, just dying to enter You're preaching to the choir So turn around, turn around

And close your eyes to us Fight fire Trap doors to endless wisdom Young lad, have we grown too tired Longing to find

And close your eyes to us And fight fire Trap doors to endless wisdom Young lad, have we grown too tired Longing to find
