

When We Were One

Brooke White

I'm still not used to me
I don't know who to be,
Can't find the missing pieces on my own

Morning without you
Is like the sky without the blue
I'm staring at a picture torn in two, torn in two

When we were one
I was complete
And now I'm only half the woman that I used to be

When we were one
I could hold my head up high
Cause you were right there by my side
I was strong, when we were one.

Your coat is hangin' on the door
Right there where it was before
That's all you left behind, you don't wear it anymore

Time is growing hard to bear
Moving on but going nowhere
Still staring at the picture but you're not there

When we were one
I was complete
And now I'm only half the woman that I used to be

When we were one
I could hold my head up high
Cause you were right there by my side
I was strong.

I lost myself to you, found a life I never knew
I've got nothing left to lose, nothing to hold on to, to hold on to.

When we were one
I was complete
And now I'm only half the woman that I used to be

When we were one
I could hold my head up high
Cause you were right there by my side
I was strong, when we were one.

When we were one
When we were one
I could hold my head up high
Cause you were right there by my side
I was strong when we were one
