

You Left Her Lonely Too Long

Buck Owens

If the windows need washin' if the grass needs mowin'
If the paint on the shutters is gone
If the kitchen seems so leakin' if the backdoor's a squeakin'
You've left her lonely too long

You've left her lonely, too long, too long, too many nights
You left her all alone
So if you started hurtin' then there's one thing for certain

If there's no curtains on the windows no clothes in the closet
If the clock on the mantel run down
If the floor you've started walkin' and if the neighbors have s tarted talkin'

You left her all alone
So if you started hurtin' then there's one thing for certain
