

Oh heaven help me from falling voices calling
From my sick, simple mind..
Cause all the signs point towards suffering
These plaques just take a toll on me
And they're all in line to see

Just hold on to me somehow
I am aware now we've fallen down
Just stay strong
We will make it through, all I need is you to stay

A crucial line, which we have crossed to Bring us close or push you away from me
Just one last night with words of how my
Brown eyes only lied

So let go of me right now
I can't explain how but I'm on my way out
You were waiting for our time to end
To break me down and leave me here to beg
I will not beg for this anymore

Let it rain to mask our faces
Though I know its far from ok again
But in time things fall into place again
But for now I choose to finally say to you

Just hold on to me somehow
I am aware now we've fallen down
Just stay strong,
We will make it through, all I need is you to stay
With me, I will not beg for this anymore
So please make me beg
