

Bleeding Forevermore

Burden Of Life

I become aware of all these lies
Life is to blame for
Dirges always turn into futile cries
As I'm bleeding forever more

Nothing to see
Which could comfort me
Not even my pride remaining
Could win this fight bitterly cold

Whensoever one anguish is over
The next begins
But much more
Which intensity
And one way less to flee

Dirges still turn into futile cries
As I am bleeding forever more

One step closer to edge of insanity
I joggle my prison bars with might and maim
I wonder if I will ever find the key belonging
And if I'll ever escape this mental chain

Finally I try to continue and I succeed
For I begin to adore every sorrow
Now I resolve to heed
That this will not change tomorrow

Dirges still turn into futile cries
As I am bleeding forever more

One step closer to edge of insanity
I ooggle my prison bars with might and maim
I wonder if I will ever find the key belonging
And if I'll ever escape this mental chain