

Happened To Me

Burn Season

Discovered people, memory, watching words that fall
Under this dear morning light, needles thoughts I draw
Still I'm pacing circles may feel sick but I'm in thought
I can't believe the truth I'm wasting, look at what I've lost

All my time watching the flash of my world fly by
I'm watching the blast that destroyed my life
Can't help but wonder just how you'd be

If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be like you are? (Like you are)
If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be, could you happen to see who you are?

Disfigured faces all I see can't close my eyes at all
I watch this rerun, this encounter, dealing with my loss
I face the question "are you listening?" riding in the car
I face the question you're not listening, you're not there at all

All my time watching the flash of my world fly by
I'm watching the blast that destroyed my life
Can't help but wonder just how you'd be

If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be like you are? (Like you are)
If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be, could you happen to see who you are?

If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be like you are? (Like you are)
If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be like you are? (Like you are) (Who you are)

If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be like you are? (Like you are) (Who you are)
If what had happened had happened to me
Would you happen to be, could you happen to see who you are?