

The Ubiquitous Pillar

Burning the Masses

Self serving pain. Self morphing future. The founder of a decade of hate and rust kingdom. An overdose of the ultimate light in his realm of reality.

The world watches him dream. Declared immoral. Infected with lies. Chained down to his fantasy island. He regains control of the master of space. Cells separating and reforming in the shape of a beetle.

"Pyramid, and pillar, our subject. Dreamer. Becomes his fair warning of civil demesionia. With the chains in his grip, he strangles the will of the sane. Separate our mind and soul while distorting the mathematics of our genetics. Billions desecrated and scattered into unimaginable locations with this emerged source of this "dreamers" power. Diced from the perspective of the eyeless. The multidimension war of experimental freedom continues."