

An Honourable Reign

Bury Tomorrow

Reign upon me, show me how I will survive.
Try and tell me a way to feel alive.
Bring it back to life, to whole new heights and tell me what is needed.
I know you'll guide me home down this darkened road.
Rain upon me, shower me with the tears of salvation.
Hold me close, hold me near.

I find myself another year spent facing a wall...
My life; our path has never been shown, but we move on.
Fighting to keep our reign from them.

We will fall into the blacker sense of reason.
Choose your side.
I hope to God you pick the right one this time.

We are The Crown!
We are The Crown!
Stand up and scream it loud!
Triumphant; immovable.

In darkness we find ourselves.

I knew we would pursue the right path, even if it was long.
We haven't changed, we stay the same; ever strong.

Show me the new day...know as long as our hearts are beating,
we will always find our way.
