

Breathe On Glass

Bury Tomorrow

You never could see the message unspoken, how I felt diseased
This isn't how it goes, how love's supposed to be
Breathe on the glass, see inside my mind
See the secrets it hides, for all those years I've spent by your side
Breathe on the glass, see inside my mind,
see the secrets it hides, see all I've despised

Turn the page, show me how to forget this
The heart I gave was all I had to
Turn the page, bring me a reason I should care
This was all I had to give

As the warm rolls over the past is still
And I'm forever in the present
Breathe on the glass, see inside my mind
This is for all the times I've tried
All the times you lied

Turn the page, show me how to forget this
The heart I gave was all I had to
Turn the page, bring me a reason I should care
This was all I had to give
All I had to give There's nothing here now

Turn the page, show me how to forget this
The heart I gave was all I had to

It's like it's been said a thousand times
Failure of the divine
And time and time again I spent bridging divides
I never promised I'd be around
