

If (Jeannie's Song)

Butch Walker

All alone in your dirty chair, washin' all your dirty hair,
and you're wonderin' how long 'til they come for you.
Watch the lines form on your face and down the block all the people chase just what you were after, before this happened to you.

And if I could be the chains, I'd fall from you and let you fly
to the angels
If I could be your pain I'd run from you, so far away.
If I could turn the time back just one day it might just be enough to say
All the things I never said to you.

Make the plans to fall in place, only to fall behind in the race and you can't keep up and I know that it pisses you off.
And your roller coaster climbs the hill, up and down, it sure does feel a bit too much. Are you ready to get off?

If I could be the chains I'd fall from you and let you fly like an angel.
If I could be the pain I'd run from you, so far away.
If I could turn the time back just one day, It might just be enough to say,
all the things I've never said to you. (to you)

And what you don't know won't hurt you.
What you don't show will kill you.
What you don't know won't hurt you.
What you don't show will kill you

And what you don't know won't hurt you.
What you won't show will kill you.
What you don't know won't hurt you at all.
And if I could be the chains I'd fall from you and let you fly like an angel
If I could be the pain, I'd run from you so far away.
If I could turn the time back just one day, It might just be enough to say,
all the things I never said to you. (to you)

Never said to you.
(What you don't know won't hurt you)
(What you don't show will kill you)
(What you don't know won't hurt you)
No, No, No, (what you don't show will kill you)
Never said to you,

to you,
to you.
