

You Know You Can't Help It

Buzzcocks

You know you can't help it when you see that girl
You know you can't help undressing her
You know you can't help eating what she's got
You know you can't help it, you just can't help it

You know you can't help it getting into her
You know you can't help it 'cause she's your world
You know you can't help that sex is good
You know you can't help it, you just can't help it

Sex is known as a screw, a bloody silly thing to do
But anyway we're all gonna do it, 'cause it's great

You know you can't help what's between her thighs
You know you can't help that honesty is lies
You know you can't help what's old but new
You know you can't help it, you just can't help it

Sex was made for you, causes deaths and murders too
Love makes war, it depends which side you're on

You know you can't help it when something rings true
You know you can't help it when touch touches you
You know you can't help that you're stone cold
You know you can't help it, you just can't help it