Change

By The Tree

If only I were bullet proof Or at least free from this A battle of my conscience a mind game To resist

And I need You to change me I'm drowning in my shame And I need You to change me Gonna take it away, take away my blame

Day and night I try to find a little peace inside my soul Never will I try to live This life here on my own