Just Say I'm Home

To hide in pain, when your love is over Feels like a blindness, when love is in vain Beyond the isles we can start it over So take me back, never let me down

Walking through the rain Only silence, only pain You were once my morning sun Still I hear your voice, like the music that I play Your eyes, they turned away

Just say I'm home At last we may hope And carry my life within your heart and your soul For you are my love, my world

Just say I'm home At last we may hope And carry my life within your heart and your soul

For you are my love, my world

Lovers at first sight Always watch the morninglight Feeling they are right as rain But so many times, it's so hard to feel the pain When love has died away

Just say I'm home At last we may hope And carry my life within your heart and your soul For you are my love, my world

Just say I'm home At last we may hope And carry my life within your heart and your soul For you are my love, my world And carry my life within your heart and your soul For you are my love, my world
