

Into The Blue

Cain's Offering

Once long ago I was young and naive
I dared to hope and I dared to dream
Once long ago lights were brighter for me
This world was mine to keep

I traveled so far, defying the dark
Just to see where this road leads
My foolish heart, unbroken, unscarred, was whole
And then there was you

Once long ago I felt lost without you
And life had left me high and dry
Once long ago didn't know what to do
Alone inside my mind

So far away from where I'm today
No one could reach my heart
Until the day my darkness fade away
And into the blue

Out of the darkness and into the blue
Still broken and scarred, but I'm over you
For every scar and every tear that falls
Means I'm healing

Where are you now, are you thinking of me?
When you look into mirror, what do you see?
The burden you bear and the secret you keep Reminding you endlessly

I've been broken for a while
But I'm not missing you

Out of the darkness and into the blue
Still broken and scarred, but I'm over you
For every scar and every tear that falls
Means I'm healing

Out of the darkness, into the blue
Where you don't want me and I don't need you
Though I'm down and though I'm torn apart
I'm still breathing

Out of the darkness and into the blue
Still broken and scarred, but I'm over you
For every scar and every tear that falls
Means I'm healing

Out of the darkness, into the blue
Where you don't want me and I don't need you
Though I'm down and though I'm torn apart
I'm still breathing

Out of the darkness and into the blue
Where you don't want me and I don't need you
Though I'm down and though I'm torn apart
My heart's beating
