

The Rule of Darkness and Ice

Cales

When energy will disperse in every directions
Stars will explode
Planets will collide and flames will strike the sky
Vulkanos will be revided from their hundreds of years of dozing and boiling lava flow

When icy claciors crack and oceans overflow
The matter will split and disperse into space
Then the freezing universe of infinity will swallow
Up everything and the rule of darkness and ice will begin